

ESSAY 4 - GEOPOLITICS

by Alexander Wolfheze

The Rite of Spring: Eurasianist Easter and Pentecost 2023

orig. Geopolitika.ru 22 April 2023

dedicated to the Sacred Heart over Eurasia

Unternehmen Sonnenwende

(Turanian Spring Solstice)

Looking to find words for this special season in Budapest, his place of exile, the author watches the cold sun of early spring sparkle up the waves of the Danube, speeding towards the Black Sea as it passes under the sleek span of the Liberty Bridge, an art nouveau wonder soaring up into slim spires topped with Turan's Turul bird. Emperor-King Franz Joseph himself put the last rivet in this bridge, which would long bear his name - this was long ago, when Hungary celebrated its Millennium. One hundred twenty-seven years later, he would still recognize this part of his old domain: here, the dignity and beauty of the Old World still linger on, stubbornly defying the degradation and ugliness that have blanketed the heart of Europe over multiple lifetimes of SU-communist and US-liberal occupation. From the author's Pest bank look-out, there is a splendid Buda-side view across Liberty Bridge, a view filled with the high cliffs of Gellért Hill and topped off by the slender Liberty Statue with its palm leaf, held up to a steel blue heaven. So bright is the sunlight and so clear is the sky that, for once, even the normally dark-grey Danube becomes pale green, matching Szabadság híd. And, for once, the sheer beauty of the place hushes the loud-mouthed, brain-dead tourist mob. Masses of torn-clothed, phone-wielding zombies are crawling all over the remains of Old Europe everywhere, but they seem particularly attracted to the Hungarian capital. Of course, here, they do the same thing they do everywhere: stare down into their little screens to home in on their standard-fashion narcissistic supply sources: selfie moments, Insta likes, Tinder decors. In this spot, between Market Hall and Liberty Bridge, they silently stare for while into glittering sunlight, gaping at un-comprehended wonders. Then, they shuffle off again, retreating into nearby their un-reality lairs: globo-homo food outlets, over-priced brand shops and app-guided night spots. Fortunately, their mass appearance in this spot is limited to certain pre-set migration weeks and feeding hours. For most of the long autumn and winter, and the early part of the brief spring, this spot is free of them: just a commute crossroads for the modest natives, with the occasional foreign exile mixed in to walk his dog - and wonder. But even as this year's tourist migration season starts, and even as today's zombie feeding hours start, somewhere after late-breakfast mid-morning, something seems to be - ever so slightly - different. Looking up from writing these words, just after spring solstice, the author notices that there is something different about this year's season: unmistakably, a faint tinge of true spring is in the air. A faded trace, perhaps, of the true all-compassing rebirth principle that must have filled this season when the world was still young - long ago, when its heaven was a truer blue and its growing a truer green. The kind of blue and green that old and tired eyes can no longer grasp, a memory of which may nevertheless linger in Monet's old-age fin-de-siècle masterpiece 'Water Lilies'.

This year 2023, to have any such sense of authentic spring in the heart of Old Europe would seem highly counter-intuitive: it is, after all, fully caught up in the globalist-nihilist take-down of Western civilization. Post-p/l/scam/ndemic/vaxx 'excess death', war-accelerated ethnic replacement, sanction-driven hyper-inflation and woke-enforced hyper-degeneracy are rapidly eliminating Old Europe's past, present and future. But this year 2023, for the first time in decades, not even the most Pavlov-reflexed observer can deny that the 'Global West', here conveniently defined as the present-day globalist-nihilist (or: neo-Atlantean) hegemonial sea-power that originates in the Western fringe of the Eurasian landmass (cf. Wolfheze, The Former Earth, henceforth TFE, 32ff.), as well as its 'rules-based order'. are in free fall. It may, in fact, be plausibly argued that the West has already fallen and that all current major civilizational and geopolitical developments are mere symptoms of the ex-West's decomposition process. Irrespective of the exact current stage of this Fall of the West, however, it is clear that the West-based world empire, the West-shaped power order and the West-defined life-world - all of which grew out of Old World Europe and then morphed into a global-nihilist anti-empire, anti-order and anti-life in the New World America - are now rapidly disintegrating. If, this year 2023, a true spring experience - civilizationally and geopolitically - would be plausible in the rising Eurasian East and the rebalancing Global South, such should not be the case in the Falling West. Nevertheless, spring solstice 2023 may still hold hope for a dead-and-buried West - hope of a future resurrection into a different kind of life.

It may be no coincidence that the first faint inkling of such hope, and the first tiny tremors of a subtle shift, are first perceptible in Budapest, the grande dame capital of rump-Hungary. She may be the impoverished widow of a long-deceased Empire - Austro-Hungary, Hapsburg, Holy Rome - but she is still intricately networked into the immense Kulturkreis web, visible and invisible, woven by that Empire. Budapest was its co-capital in its heyday and her network web still stretches across all of continental Europe in manifold ways, abstract (in living cultures) as well as concrete (in living humans). But she does so in a rather unexpected way. Because the estate that she rules, Hungary, may naturally constitute the land-heart core of Europe, where it occupies the sea-distant and land-climate Carpathian Basin, but it also culturally constitutes Europe's ultimate 'counter-point'. Hungary is the only European nation-state historically founded by a nomadic people, it is the only Central European country with a non-Indo-European identity and it is the only European nation that is essentially East-aspiring rather than West-aspiring. The heart of the Hungarian nation remains Turanian: rather than to the rich urban centres and artificial garden landscapes of the Atlantic rimland, it remains attuned to the wild steppes, the great rivers and dark forests of inner-Eurasia, from where it sprung and of which the Puszta, the Danube and Sylvania are mere pale reflections. Accordingly, in Hungary, everything Western is 'reversed'. The order of given first and family name is reversed - because tribal allegiance and descent consciousness prevail. The order of day-month-year dating is reversed - because cosmic greater-to-smaller time precedence prevails. But most, importantly the Hungarian language - House of Being for its mere 15 million native speakers and window-to-the-soul for a mere handful of foreign admirers - is all that the Indo-European languages, by which it has been surrounded and swamped for centuries, are not. Onomatopoeic word roots, vowel-harmonic reverse determination, non-gendered nouns and forever fluid verbs - these are only the most obvious distinctions separating Hungarian from the Indo-European forms and norms between which it has survived. And which - with Hungarian reality single-handedly resurrecting the Sapir-Whorf thesis in all its glory - have shaped a truly unique talented nation with uncommon mathematical, scientific and artistic gifts. Hungary's astounding roll call of geniuses - Noble Prize winners, mathematical innovators, scientific pioneers, avant-garde composers - can speak for itself. Similarly, Hungary's history is 'inverted': Hungary ever tends to row against the waves of so-called 'historical progress' flooding over it from all directions according to the season, proudly associating itself with lost causes and heroic stands. It is ever the exception to the self-set 'rules' of the West with which it has been (self-)identified through its West-derived religious (Catholic, Protestant) and historical (Hapsburg, EU) associations. Coming out on the losing side of Europe's great 19th and 20th Century wars, Hungary was punished and mutilated accordingly by a series of vindictive victors. Most particularly by the 1920 'peace' treaty of Trianon, the grossly unjust terms of which, incredibly, still prevail now, over a century later. Under terms of the Trianon Diktat, the Hungarian state was not even allowed to choose its own form of government (it remained a Kingdom but without a King) and it was coerced into giving up two-thirds of its historical territory, separating it from millions of ethnic-Hungarian border-land inhabitants. The fact that Trianon is still an intrinsic part of the West-derived 'international rules-based order' glaringly proves the irredeemable hypocrisy of that order, making a mockery of its high-minded principles of 'self-determination' and 'democracy'. Thus, despite its best self-effacing efforts and its saintly patience, Hungary still stands outside the 'common home' that the Western and 'Pan-European' institutions were supposed to create for the European peoples, maintaining its 'odd man out' status till today. Now, however, Hungary is starting to gradually reassert its own identity and interest, crawling out of the dust and darkness of decades of East-Bloc and West-Bloc dominance. Ever so slowly, Hungary's very own 'Operation Solstice' is starting to take effect.

Over the last decades, Hungary has, in many ways, slowly transformed itself into a kind of 'no man's land' - a 'grey zone'. Nominally remaining in the Western-globalist political and economic orbit under the 'rules-based order' letter institutions (EU, NATO, etc.), it nevertheless deviates from - or even rejects out-right - key 'Western', i.e. globalist-nihilist 'values': it has sabotaged ECB monetary rule by holding off on Euro-membership, it has sabotaged Big Pharma's eugenics program by allowing in non-mRNA Chinese vaccinations, it has defied the EU's sexual degeneracy (gay-trans) agenda and it has refused participation in NATO's (Ukraine) proxy-war on Russia. In some ways, all this fits Hungary's (ex-Asian) ethnic, (non-Indo-European) linguistic and (East-West mixing) cultural unicity. In other ways, it defies its historical trajectory as part of the East Bloc, which it followed from 1945 till 2010. During the 'liberal bonanza' of the '90s and '00s, Hungary went through the same piracy-capitalist rituals that struck the other ex-Eastern and now-Central European countries: all-out de-industrialization, 'shock therapy' privatization, brain-drain emigration, ex-pat colonization, social 'west-toxification', cultural globalization and EU-NATO occupation. By 2010, when the Hungarian liberal-left governing clique was removed from power after having been exposed as explicitly referring to the nation as its very own kurva ország, 'whore country',¹ Hungary's grande dame capital, dishevelled and impoverished, had become a haven for international organized crime and a staging post for Third World mass migration to the West, as well as the porn capital of the world. With the 2010 elections, Hungary switched to a form of government that may be typified as mildly nationalist and classically liberal form - ironically termed 'illiberal' by Western commentators. And, ever so slowly, Budapest started to recover.

úgy fordul át Budapest a szervezett bűnözés központjából és pornófővárosból

¹ A reference to the political fall-out of the so-called 'Osöd Speech' of 2006, given by then-ruling PM Ferenc Gyurcsány in closed chambers, but leaked and widely published, permanently discrediting the Hungarian liberal left and allowing Viktor Orbán's right-populist Fidesz party to achieve a super-majority that it has held ever since.

a kultúra fővárosáva a világban és válik az európai hídfeállása a kontinenseket összekötő kulturális és gazdasági hídnak ahol kétirányú közlekedés áramlik²

‘thus Budapest turns from the centre of organized crime and the capital of porn into the culture capital in the world and it becomes the European bridgehead of the cultural economic bridge that brings together the continents over which two-way traffic flows’

As Hungary continues this slow ‘Operation Solstice’, turning away from the decaying West and to the rising East, it needs time and space. As it seeks to shake off globalist-nihilist institutional tutelage and liberal-nihilist indoctrination, as it seeks to recover its Turanian heritage and its Eurasian roots, it should be shown the patience and consideration that is due to a man recovering from a long and serious sickness. Till Hungary recovers, for dissident exiles from the West, thrown into a truly cosmopolitan mêlée with vaxx-refugees from Central Europe, New Silk Road pioneers from the East, exchange students from the Global South and avant-garde artists from all over the world, its grande dame capital will continue to be what it is now: a halfway-house to freedom - with a ‘Casablanca’-level movie setting to match. They can only wish the Hungarian nation a speedy recovery of its full independence - and a speedy crossing of Liberty Bridge.

Unternehmen Frühlingserwachen
(Globalist-Nihilist Spring AwOkening)

Thinking about that despairing spring long ago, now fast receding from living memory, when Hungary lost its independence, a strange inverse analogy comes to mind: how in March 1945, the doomed Third Reich, still supported by Hungary, launched its last major offensive of the war on the Hungarian front, which had, by then, been pushed back westward across the Danube. That offensive, code-named ‘Operation Spring Awakening’, staked the Third Reich’s last strategic reserve and the fate of Hungary on one last throw of the dice, only to be disastrously defeated in short order. By then, Hungary, for its own particular and legitimate reasons, had fought ‘on the wrong side of history’ for four near on years - and it would continue to do so to the bitter end, an end that also brought about Stunde Null to European civilization. Writing in spring of 2023, well into the fourth year of the globalist-nihilist Great Reset program, seemingly custom-designed to wipe out Western civilization, one wonders whether the whole Great Reset power project may, in fact, already be in its death throes. Perhaps, its current ‘Ukraine’ gamble has a close analogy to the Third Reich’s ‘Operation Spring Awakening’: perhaps it is the last ‘Spring AwOkening’ gasp of yet another megalomaniac Griff nach der Weltmacht, doomed to expire in the ‘Blood Lands’ battle zone of Central-Eastern Europe.

This spring of 2023, there seems to be a first tantalizing inkling of the coming downfall of the globalist-nihilist elite’s the seemingly irresistible power ‘Combine’³, i.e. the Big Government, Big Banking, Big Tech and Big Pharma combine that is now engaged in an undisguised quest for world dominion. This spring of 2023, there seems to be a subtle change pervading the ether across the sealed-off public sphere, slowly but surely seeping through the cracks of the still firmly closed Overton Window. Slowly, it is filtering through into the Combine's air-tight MSM echo chambers: the swagger of its neocon mouthpieces and the self-righteousness of its media prestitutes are faltering as their previously impenetrable narratives of 'safe and effective' and 'victorious Ukraine' are slipping through their fingers. In fact, the first, ever so slight shivers of doubt - and fear - may be sensed shaking the entire globalist-nihilist edifice: here a resignation over lockdown 'mismanagement', there a withdrawal of liability for 'vaccines', here a foretaste of truth about a pipeline blow-up, there a trace of war-weary 'appeasement', here a glimpse of strangely massive 'pension related' unrest, there a sudden batch of 'bank failures'. Persistent rumours about 'unexplained' excess death, recurrent 'died suddenly' interruptions of sports events, whispered words about 'Biden syndicate' slush funds, well-timed 'media leaks' about casualties in the East, repeated 'fake news' reports of an impending financial melt-down. Interspersed with ever shallower MSM distractions - 'balloon hoaxes', 'UFO sightings', 'AI apocalypse' - the atmosphere of the ex-West's former public square is increasingly filled with unmistakable signs of narrative breakdown and psychotic meltdown. All sure signs that the whole underlying infrastructure (economic functionality, financial stability) and the whole overarching power structure (institutional sustainability, political credibility) are unravelling.

² From a memorial plaque placed in Régiposta utca, Budapest.

³ A reference to the ‘critical’ analysis of the ‘Chief Bromden’ character in the famous 1975 American psychological drama movie One Flew over the Cuckoo’s Nest (Milos Forman).

As the author has stated earlier (cf. essay 'The White Whale'), the hostile elite is engaged in a desperate va banque manoeuvre: it has chosen a 'flight forward' strategy of do-or-die external aggression - in fact, an all-out bid for world dominance - to stave off an internal crisis that is both systemic (overleveraged financialization, environmental unsustainability, democratic deficit) and existential (cultural nihilism, collective narcissism, social implosion). First, it enacted the worldwide 'shock and awe' 'Covid' psy-op to shut down the globalized economy and establish indisputable emergency power across its Western home territory: this stage was initiated by the sc/p(l)andemic-triggered physical lock-down and economic shut-down during the winter of 2020. Over the following months, this emergency power was extended to the legal and political spheres of the West by the 'BLM' colour revolution and the 'Biden' coup, effectively decreeing anti-law and anti-identity, imposing blanket media censorship and erecting a monolithic 'uni-party' dictatorship. If the 'J6' moment is taken to be the 'Reichstag Fire' consolidation point of the globalist-nihilist Machtergreifung (for an analysis of its preparatory stages cf. Wolfheze, Alba Rosa, 12ff), then this is the point in time by which future historians can formally date the Fall of the West. Thus, 'Ten Months That Shook the World' was all it took for the hostile elite to take over the West. From that point onwards, it can be plausibly argued that the West is now more appropriately to be referred to as the ex-West, defined as a closed-off 'safe space' roughly covering the overseas 'Five Eyes' Anglosphere plus its World Island off-shore islands and beachheads: Japan and Taiwan in the east and ex-Catholic and ex-Protestant Europe in the west.

The author has already touched upon the deeper implications of the West's 'zombie-shift' as it moves into a 'post-Western' state of un- and anti-reality (cf. essay 'The White Whale'). These implications are profound, both on the concrete existential and the abstract ontological level, for the ex-West internally as well as for the non-West externally. Currently, these implications are being investigated and diagnosed by non-Western thinkers and publicists, not least among them those belonging to the Eurasianist movement. For the non-West, the timely formulation of responses to and the timely implementation of remedies for the existential threat and ontological challenge posed by the 'zombie-shifted' ex-West are matters of life and death. Substantial research in this direction has already been done by the leading light of the Eurasianist movement, Aleksandr Dugin, who has been pointing out the need for the re-establishment of full-spectrum (multi-dimensional, ontology-defining) sovereignty (e.g. Aleksandr Dugin, 'Censorship: the Metaphysics of Sovereign Culture', Geopolitica 4 April 2023 and 'The Concept of Foreign Policy as the Apotheosis of Multipolarism and the Catechism of Sovereignty', Geopolitica 7 April 2023).

In the final analysis, the re-establishment of full-spectrum sovereignty, as Eurasianism promotes it for all authentic nations and traditions, can only be viably based on an all-encompassing alternative Weltanschauung: a comprehensive world-view that matches - and outcompetes - the globalist-nihilist claim to absolute rule and world-dominance. Eurasianism provides a unique thought system, providing a unified political-philosophical and geopolitical model, in which multiple (and overlapping) religion-, culture- and empire-based world-views can each claim absolute validity within their own particular realm, thus allowing the simultaneous formulation and maintenance of multiple absolute sovereignties (cf. Wolfheze, Rupes Nigra, 51-83). The globalist-nihilist ruling clique ex-West, however, is determined to deny the rights and privileges that are attached to such sovereignties and it is firmly committed to combatting the very concept of sovereignty. It is currently testing the boundaries of its non-Western opponents' resolve to defend and reconquer true sovereignty. It is meeting unprecedented resistance externally and at the same time it is facing an unprecedented crisis of confidence internally: this moment should be seized for a maximum push-back by its state-actor enemies abroad and by its dissident enemies at home, preferably in some coordinated manner. The fate of the previously irresistible globalist-nihilist hostile elite and the future of its Combine power-structures hangs in the balance. Just one more one-timed push and the whole house of cards may very well collapse in on itself. Just as, once upon a time, the Red Army absorbed the blow of the overreaching Wehrmacht in Unternehmen Frühlingserwachen and then skillfully turned around to deliver the coup de grâce to the Third Reich, so now the Empire of Lies' imperial overreach in the Blood Lands of Eastern Europe may very well bring it down once and for all.

'The Abolition of Man'
(False Spring Prophylaxis)

Three geese in a flock
One flew East
One flew West
And one flew over the cuckoo's nest

At the current point of equilibrium, at which the outcome of the globalist-nihilist all-out war on both its external and internal enemies hangs in the balance, it is necessary to remind the reader of what is truly at stake. Of what is at stake beyond the blood-stained front lines around Artyomovsk, beyond the BRICS-filled headlines of the MSM, beyond the 'culture wars' battle lines within the ex-West. The author, born and raised in the West and having observed the Fall of the West up close and personal, deems it necessary to add a specifically West-experience-based perspective as a necessary reality check to prevent a possible reversal in the good fortunes of the Eurasianist cause. There remains a risk of such a reversal, great and even catastrophic, as long as there remains even the slightest doubt as to the real intent and ultimate goal of the ex-West's hostile elite. Having much first-hand experience and some insider knowledge of the workings of power structures of the ex-West, the author of this essay wishes to insert three points of warning:

(1) The Eurasian East and the Global South face nothing less than total war. The forms and formalities of international diplomacy and relations may still stand, but they are now a mere façade - and the hostile elite of the ex-West uses them as a Potemkin-village screen behind which it is executing its global take-over manoeuvre. This elite may be desperate and its MSM may be manic, but nobody should be deceived as to the intelligence and the focus of the true globalist-nihilist decision-makers, i.e. the hidden cabal that controls the visible puppets in a carefully crafted theatre of politics and infotainment. At its most conscious decision-making level, the ex-West's hostile elite must be assumed to be fully aware of the political reasonability, economic viability and socio-cultural compatibility of the Eurasianist vision and its multipolar program: it simply refuses to conform to these positive aims - rather, it deliberately pursues their inversion. It has abundantly proven its intent during its 30-year-long 'unipolar moment', when it systematically combatted even the slightest traces of sovereignty anywhere around the world, eliminating them whenever it could get away with it and inflicting maximum suffering whenever it could not. From the utter destruction of Iraq and Libya, through the all-out assaults on Yugoslavia and Syria and through the successful colour revolutions in Georgia and Ukraine, all the way up to the failed uprisings in Venezuela and Iran and the unsuccessful subversions of Hungary and Hongkong, the malicious intent of the globalist-nihilist hostile elite and its so-called 'rules-based order', as well as its ultimate goal, world dominion, have been proven beyond any doubt. The all-out war on Russia, using the Ukraine puppet regime, and the deliberate provocation of China, using the Taiwan puppet regime, are merely part of the hostile elite's final bid for world dominion, viz. the forceful imposition of unchallenged control over the World Island through the abolishment of Russia's and China's state sovereignty. Having achieved that goal, the hostile elite would then presumably be left with the easy task of mopping up the remnant sovereignties of recalcitrant 'lesser' enemies, such as Iran and India. There should be no illusion in the minds of those caught up in this web: this is an all-or-nothing power grab by the ex-West's hostile elite. They will never settle for anything less than total control and therefore should not be permitted to recuperate from any set-back. Its ex-West-based Empire of Lies must be utterly destroyed and its ruling elite must be hunted down. If need be, it must be chased right into its last 'bunker' refuge under the smoking ruins of its last hold-out. The whole Big Government-Big Banking-Big Tech-Big Pharma Combine must be utterly destroyed and its entire ('Young Global') leadership must be put on trial. This evil has to be destroyed root and branch. There is simply no other choice.

(2) The ex-West-based hostile elite poses an existential threat to the whole world - and to humanity as such. Because it does not merely seek to deprive the Eurasianist East and the Global South of their sovereign rights and to defeat their combined attempt to shake off the supremacist shackles of unipolar political hegemony and 'Westoxified' cognitive dominion: it also seeks to establish a border-less, world-wide totalitarian control grid in preparation for a methodically planned supersession of humanity itself. As the globalist-nihilist Great Reset moves forward, the contours of its neo-feudal future vision are looming large: elements of a cross-border bio-medical control grid ('vaccine' mandates, 'QR-code' status-checks) are already in place and experiments with a cross-border behaviour-manipulation grid (ChatGPT data gathering operations, Central Bank Digital Currency trials) are already taking place. Within the home-territory of the ex-West, the power of the Combine, now fully meeting the classic definition of fascism (viz. cooperation between monopolist big business - Big Banking-Big Tech-Big Pharma) and the apparatus of a totalitarian superstate, already runs politically unchallenged since the Great Reset's 'J6' moment, but the aim of the Combine's program is much deeper than the achievement of mere political power. As philosophically and metapolitically addressed by thinkers of note over the last decade,⁴ the Combine's ultimate aim - and the whole Great Reset is merely one step towards it - is the transformation of the entire expression of human life on the planet and that of the human condition itself. During the West's liberal-normative decades, roughly from the neo-liberal Reagan-Thatcher-Kohl shift to the neo-totalitarian Covid-BLM-Biden shift, the ground-work for this transformation was laid by the systematic denial of biological realities (race, gender), the systematic deconstruction of cultural identities (nation, family) and the systematic introduction of 'alternative realities' (on-line avatar identities, web-based virtual worlds) through a finely tuned combination of technical innovation, educational conditioning, media indoctrination. To effectively fight the Combine and defeat its program, it is necessary to keep in mind its ultimately trans-humanist aim: the supersession of the human condition. Left unchecked, i.e. if it succeeds in overcoming external (state-actor) and internal (dissident) resistance, the Combine may very well achieve a world-encompassing Eloi-Morlock 'eco-system' between a bio-technically (life-span extended and/or cognitively 'wired') enhanced elite and a digitally-controlled (implant-directed and/or 'vaccine' controlled) serf-population, the latter likely reduced to a fraction of current numbers after a series of 'culling' events of which the current 'vaxxinocaust' may merely offer a foretaste. Even if such an 'eco-system' does not turn out to be a mere transitional stage towards an even more sinister, fully post-human (post-mortal, AI-merged) condition, its neo-feudal conditions are entirely incompatible with even the most rudimentary notions of human self-determination, let alone the ethical - and aesthetical - minimum-demands of any currently significant religious or philosophical value-system. The ex-West's current 'trans-sexual' agenda, with its doctrinal 'reprogramming' and physical 'transitioning' of innocent children and teenagers, and its current 'gene-editing' program, with its mRNA-based euthanizing and sterilizing of black-mailed workers and students, are likely mere sneak previews of the 'hell on Earth' scenario that will unfold once the globalist-nihilist Combine is free to openly pursue its actual trans-human and anti-human agenda.

(3) This fight against the globalist-nihilist hostile elite is more than a fight for survival - it is a fight against evil. The larger transformative project of the hostile elite, significantly accelerated and openly manifest through the Great Reset, not merely targets human culture, including all historical and contemporary forms of socio-economical autarky, political autonomy and cultural identity, which are rejected as 'primitive' and 'obsolete': it also targets human nature, including its most basic physical categories, such gender, race and age - which are, of course, combatted as 'exclusionary' and 'discriminatory'. As stated under (2) above, it is more a program of willed transition than of supervised transformation: a transition from human to post-human. By its very design, this transition is destined to explore, incorporate and insist on the logical anti-theses of what is human, viz. on what is un-human and anti-human. In terms of Traditionalist analysis, this transition, which implies the erasure of the very foundations of human culture and identity, eliminating the anagogic structures and transcendent potentialities embedded within them, is inevitably regressive. The Great Reset's post-humanist goals, marketed through 'progressive' slogans, such as 'sustainable development', 'global governance' and 'build back better' ('666'), and hidden by 'woke' new-speak, such as post-gender 'fluidity' ('transgender' grooming agenda), post-race 'equity' ('critical race theory' anti-white agenda) and post-gene 'therapy' (mRNA 'vaccine' depopulation agenda), are essentially achieved by reducing human sensory and cognitive receptivity. This reduction is assisted by the already very real separation, of modern humanity as a whole, from those natural habitats, reproductive chains and ancestral traditions that shaped its sensory and its cognitive abilities. After decades - in some instances: generations - of such separation, the programmed further reduction of sensory and cognitive processing (as well as input) of 'modern mass man' is child's play, as he is subject to compulsory educational indoctrination, omnipresent mass media manipulation and algorithmically controlled virtualization. As the West's 'baby boomers', the first majority 'post-religious' and majority 'post-moral' generation, completed its hippie-to-yuppie 'march through the institutions', the last 'checks and balances', previously built into family, education, media and governance systems, have fallen away. As the neo-liberal 'greed is good' and 'be yourself' decades passed by, the last 'reality checks', in the forms of father figures, male teachers, truth-seeking journalists and responsible politicians were systematically eradicated. In this new, literally 'fact-free' and 'alternative reality' environment, the upward-directing mechanisms of the West, those that allowed Western man to approach and access the transcendent sphere, are no longer functional. At a collective level, Western man's senses and cognition are now no longer 'anagogic', i.e. directed at character-building challenges, experience-based self-knowledge and spiritual liberation, but rather 'katagogic', i.e. directed at the precise opposites, viz. narcissist self-indulgence, fantasy-based infantile regression and sensual oblivion. In this new 'alternative reality', all the higher expressions of human culture and civilization, including social rules, religious teachings and spiritual exercises, are necessarily perverted and inverted: they become templates for realizing an opposite outcome and an anti-reality of sorts.

⁴ For an overview of the full implications of the trans-humanist revolution and its ultimate philosophical underpinnings, cf. Jorjani, World State. For useful updates on the trans- and anti-humanist agenda of the globalist-nihilist hostile elite, cf. Alexander Markovics, 'The Philosophy of Transhumanism', Geopolitica 16 March 2023 and Alexander Dugin, 'Post-men or Post-humans?', Geopolitica 22 March 2023.

The visible 'mainstreaming' of Mammon worship (from 'Reaganomics' to 'The Wolf of Wallstreet'), sexual perversion (from 'Sexual Revolution' to 'Drag Queen Story Hour') and child sacrifice (from 'Rosemary's Baby' to 'vaccination for children') in the West is, in fact, entirely predictable: it simply takes the movement towards 'opposite transcendence' to its logical conclusion. In a philosophical sense, it represents the literal application of the Umwertung aller Werte. In a religious sense, it represents an actual attempt to establish the reign of the antichrist on Earth. It is useful to remember this: all those who committed themselves to the fight, each in his or her own way, against the globalist-nihilist Combine and its New World Order, including those doing so in the Eurasianist movement for the cause of the Eurasian East as well as the Global South, should remember what they are really fighting against:

*For we wrestle not against flesh and blood,
but against principalities, against powers,
against the rulers of the darkness of this world,
against spiritual wickedness in high places.*
- Ephesians 6:12

'Thunder Child'
(Short Circuit Spring Sacrament)

I was sent forth from the Power
I have come to those who reflect upon me
I have been found among those who seek after me
- 'Thunder, Perfect Mind', translation George MacRae

Once the enemy has been properly identified, the danger has been properly estimated and the mind has been made up, there remains one more preparation to be made: to dedicate oneself. This is what made the Roman legions invincible, in the sense that they could never really lose their battles: either they triumphed over the enemy by victory or they triumphed over death itself - by sacrifice. In various attenuated forms this sacramentum militare,⁵ by which Roman soldiers became effectively immortal whilst still walking the Earth, still exists in some military traditions. The Christian West had its knight crusaders, the Muslim World had its holy warriors and pre-modern Japan had its samurai, some faint traces of which still exist. There also is the largely ignored and purposefully misrepresented passionarity of the countless soldiers who fought and fell for their Fatherlands and Nations in those modern wars during which these Fatherlands and Nations were reduced to mere propaganda terms by insincere politicians pursuing hidden anti-patriotic and anti-national agendas - but that does not diminish these soldiers' intent and sacrifice. There is also the as-yet unarticulated ground-swell of steely determination and heroic predisposition that is rising in the hearts of the many nations of the Eurasian East and Global South that have been systematically cheated, bullied, abused and violated by the Empire of Lies as it stretched forth its blood-stained tentacles from the cesspool that is now the West. As global tensions continue to rise and as the West continues its overreach, inevitably, many boiling- and breaking-points will be reached - some already have. This incoming tide of powerful indignation must not only be channeled by proper analysis and good statesmanship: it must also be articulated in a sacred commitment that binds men together and that directs them to victory - spring is the season for such preparations and commitments.

As blurry battle lines are starting to consolidate and as wondering minds are starting to focus, it becomes possible to divine the outlines of what such sacred commitment in the fight against the Empire of Lies would require at the geopolitical level. A few of the minimum conditions of a meaningful victory, i.e. of a victory not based on a premature 'compromise' and the naïve belief that any 'balance of power' stability can be achieved with the Atlanticist supremacists still in place, may already be discerned:

(1) the immediate dissolution of NATO and the EU, which are the main mechanisms by which the globalist wars of aggression and the globalist occupation of Europe have been channeled during the last decades - alongside assorted globalist 'rules-based order' mechanisms of lesser range (Euro, Schengen, UNHCR, IOM, etc., etc.);

(2) the immediate withdrawal of all non-European military forces from all of continental Europe and the commitment of all continental European nations to complete neutrality, including a solemn (Monroe Doctrine-mirror) undertaking by all nations to never allow any foreign military forces, whether European or non-European, on their territory. American troops out, American bases closed, American agents expelled, American media banned, American tech barred, American bribes blocked. Perhaps, once the USA accepts minding its own business and staying out of the affairs of others, its diplomats may eventually be invited back in, its tourists may cautiously be welcomed back in and its trade may partially be allowed back in - but from now on under strict supervision;

⁵ (Latin) 'Military Oath' - the Roman military sacrament, activated by an oath under the standard (signum) during a religious ceremony by which the oath-taking soldier became divinely ordained (sacer). Imposing a genius sacramenti on the military collective, this ceremony created the numinously charged esprit de corps that underpinned the Roman legions' indefatigable morale.

(3) the negotiated one-time settlement, on the template of the 1648 Westphalia and 1815 Vienna Treaties, of all border disputes with the European space. Such a settlement will, in one stroke, void all injustices of the 'victors' peace' treaties that were imposed on Europe after WWI and WWII and end the 'divide and conquer' boundaries drawn and maintained by the trans-national and totalitarian ideologues of the USSR in the East and the EU(SSR) in the West. It will also reassert the principles of the right to self-determination for all nations, state sovereignty in international diplomacy and mutual non-interference in domestic affairs;

(4) a re-drawing of nation-state borders based on a balanced consideration of various factors, with priority to creating ethnic cohesive boundaries and accommodating aspirations of national self-determination, followed by lower priority considerations such as the facilitation of sea- and river-access, infrastructure viability, historical-cultural continuity and reconciliation of historical injustices.

For any European committed to the Eurasianist vision, these four points represent not only a self-evident recipe but also absolute minimum prerequisites for a restoration of a once-again fully sovereign, identity-assured and virtue-loving European community of nations, striving to a Res Publica Christiana of European nations that is liberated from the Atlanticist joke to live in harmony. Not keeping to these minimum prescriptions and allowing Atlanticism to survive on the European continent is the equivalent of chasing off a rabid dog but allowing him to wander around freely - the animal is bound to return and strike again. This mad dog must be put down for once and all.

Thus, for the ex-West in the short run and for the East in the long run, the worst outcome of the now smouldering 'Last World of the World Island', initiated by Russian President Putin on 22-02-2022, would be a premature 'peace', i.e. a compromise between a part-victorious Eurasian Bloc and a part-defeated Atlanticist Bloc after a failure of the latter's 'Ukraine Crisis' project. Any such 'peace', based on the victor's anachronistic deference to 'classical diplomacy' and his ignorance of the vanquished enemy's incorrigible bad faith, would be certain to leave Western and Central Europe under the Atlanticists' heel, leaving intact their geopolitical bridgehead on the World Island as well as their institutional (NATO/EU) root-structures, buying them time to consolidate and recover. During that time of reprieve - perhaps some years, perhaps a decade - not only would they perfect their bio-technological and digital-totalitarian enslavement domestically within their remit, but they would also be able to learn from their defeat and prepare for new ways to eventually resume their fight and finally defeat the East.

After Russia was invaded and nearly destroyed by Napoleon in 1812, it pursued its enemy right back into his lair, right back into Paris, ending his megalomaniac attempt to rule Europe. After it was once again invaded and once again nearly destroyed by Hitler in 1941, Russia once again pursued its enemy right back into his lair, right back into Berlin, putting a premature end to the overreaching Third Reich. Similarly, the Anglo-sphere-based Atlanticist monster must not be let off the hook: this rabid dog must be killed. The monstrous globalist-nihilist weed that is strangling and suffocating Europe and the world must be eradicated, branch and root. There is no other choice. Even if it costs us all.

*This is no time for caution
Caution will get you killed
- ‘Interstellar’*

Gaudeamus Igitur
(Eurasianist Spring Cleaning)

*Crescat una veritas
Floreat fraternitas
Patriae prosperitas
‘May truth alone grow
May brotherhood flower
And the fatherland’s prosperity’*

Once the enemy has been properly identified, the danger has been properly estimated and the mind has been made up, there remains one more preparation to be made: to dedicate oneself. This is what made the Roman legions invincible, in the sense that they could never really lose their battles: either they triumphed over the enemy by victory or they triumphed over death itself - by sacrifice. In various attenuated forms the sacramentum militare,⁶ by which Roman soldiers became effectively immortal whilst still walking the Earth, still exists in some military traditions. The Christian West had its knight crusaders, the Muslim World had its holy warriors and pre-modern Japan had its samurai - some faint traces of these still exist. There also is the largely ignored or misunderstood passionarity of those countless soldiers who fought and fell for their Fatherlands and Nations in those modern wars during which these Fatherlands and Nations were reduced to mere propaganda terms by insincere politicians pursuing hidden anti-patriotic and anti-national agendas - but that does not diminish these soldiers’ intent and sacrifice. There is also the as-yet unarticulated ground-swell of steely determination and heroic predisposition rising in the hearts of those many nations of the Eurasian East and Global South that have been systematically cheated, bullied, abused and violated by the Empire of Lies that stretches forth its blood-stained tentacles from the cesspool that is now the West. As global tensions continue to rise and as the West continues its overreach, inevitably many boiling- and breaking-point will be reached - some already have. This incoming tide of powerful indignation must not only be channelled by proper analysis and good statesmanship: it must also be articulated in a sacred commitment that binds men together and directs them to victory - spring is the season for preparations and commitments.

As blurry battle lines are starting to consolidate and as wondering minds are starting to focus, it becomes possible to divine the vague outlines of what such sacred commitment in the fight against the Empire of Lies would require at the geopolitical level. A few of the minimum conditions of a meaningful victory, i.e. a victory not based on a premature ‘compromise’ in the naïve belief that any ‘balance of power’ stability can be achieved with the Atlantisticist supremacists still in place, may already be discerned:

⁶ Latin: ‘Military Oath’, a reference to the Roman military sacrament, activated by an oath under the standard (signum) during a religious ceremony by which the oath-taking soldier became divinely ordained (sacer). Imposing a genius sacramenti on the military collective, this ceremony created the numinously charged esprit de corps that underpinned the Roman legions’ indefatigable morale.

(1) the immediate dissolution of NATO and the EU, which are the main mechanisms by which the globalist wars of aggression and the globalist occupation of Europe have been channelled during the last decades - alongside assorted globalist ‘rules-based order’ mechanisms of lesser range (Euro, Schengen, UNHCR, IOM, etc., etc.);

(2) the immediate withdrawal of all non-European military forces from all of continental Europe and the commitment of all continental European nations to complete neutrality, including a solemn (Monroe Doctrine-mirror) undertaking by all nations to never allow any foreign military forces, whether European or non-European, on their territory. American troops out, American bases closed, American agents expelled, American media banned, American tech barred, American money blocked. Perhaps, once the USA accepts minding its own business and staying out of the affairs of others, its diplomats may be eventually invited back, its tourists may be cautiously welcomed back and its trade may be partially allowed back - but all under strict supervision;

(3) the negotiated one-time settlement, along the lines of the 1648 Westphalia and the 1815 Vienna Treaty, of all border disputes with the European space. Such a settlement will, in one stroke, void all injustices of the ‘victors’ peace’ treaties imposed on Europe after WWI and WWII and by the ‘divide and conquer’ boundaries drawn and maintained by the trans-national and totalitarian ideologues of the USSR in the East and the EU(SSR) in the West. It will also reassert the principles of the right to self-determination for all nations, state sovereignty in international diplomacy and mutual non-interference in domestic affairs;

(4) a re-drawing of nation-state borders based on a balanced consideration of various factors, with priority to creating ethnic cohesive boundaries and accommodating aspirations of national self-determination, followed by the facilitation of sea- and river-access, infrastructure viability, historical-cultural continuity and reconciliation of historical injustices.

For any European committed to the Eurasianist vision, these four points represent not only the self-evident recipe but also the absolute minimum prerequisite for a restoration of a once-again fully sovereign, identity-assured and virtue-loving European community of nations, transformed into a true Res Publica Christiana of European nations, liberated from the Atlanticist joke and living in harmony. Not keeping to keep to these minimum prescriptions and allowing Atlanticism to survive on the European continent is the equivalent of chasing off a rabid dog but allowing him to wander around freely, only to return and strike again. This mad dog must be put down for once and all.

Thus, for the ex-West in the short run, and for the East in the long run, the worst outcome of the smouldering ‘Last World of the World Island’ that was initiated on 22-02-2022 would be a compromise between a part-victorious Eurasian Bloc and a part-defeated Atlanticist Bloc after a collapse of the latter’s ‘Ukraine’ project. Any such ‘peace settlement’, based on the victor’s anachronistic deference to ‘classical diplomacy’ and ignoring the vanquished’s incorrigible bad faith, would be certain to leave Western and Central Europe under the Atlanticists’ heel, leaving intact their (NATO/EU) root-structures and buying them time to consolidate and recover. During that time of reprieve - perhaps some years, perhaps a decade - not only would biotechnological and digital-totalitarian enslavement be perfected domestically within the West, but the hostile elite would also be able to learn from its defeat and devise better ways to eventually assume the fight and defeat the East.

After Russia was invaded and nearly destroyed by Napoleon in 1812, it pursued its enemy right back into his lair, right back into Paris, ending his megalomaniac attempt to rule the world. After it was once again invaded and once again nearly destroyed by Hitler in 1941, it once again pursued its enemy into his lair, right back into Berlin. Similarly, the Anglo-sphere-based Atlanticist monster must not be let off the hook - his rabid dog must be killed. The monstrous globalist-nihilist weed that is strangling and suffocating Europe - and the world - must be pulled out, branch and root. There is no other choice - even if it costs us all.

Holy War Redux
(Rules-Based-Role-Play vs. Realpolitik)

'We are teetering on the precipice of annihilation, and false hopes or prayers will never be enough to restore this so-called 'civilization.' Apathy is our enemy, and can only lead to an enslaved society at the hands of technocratic rulers. At this stage of tyranny, indifference, and complete loss of integrity by the masses, nothing short of an absolute and unconditional reshaping of society will suffice in order to eliminate the threat of the extinction of humanity as we know it.' - Gary Barnett, 'The Bizarro Effect of Universal Insanity', Lewrockwell.com 5 August 2023

'Let us give up the liberal illusion, electoralism, multi-partyism, all the other elements of the dominant political mythology. We cannot defeat our enemies with petitions, peaceful demonstrations and participation in elections. They have all the tools at their disposal for manipulation, domination and control. Ultimately, only political violence offers humanity a chance. The rest is misguided, naive and a direct contribution to collective suicide. To sum up, we could call this programme in two words: Cross and Sword.' - Iurie Rosca, 'A Survival Program in Two Points: Cross and Sword', Telegra.ph 3 August 2023.

Im Geiste von des Alten Fritz
(Prussian Spring Spirit)

(*) Some words of wisdom for those now at war. Some realpolitik aphorisms by philosopher-king Frederick the Great, who out-witted, out-fought and out-last-ed a most intimidating 'coalition of the willing'. Free-formatted translations by Alexander Wolfheze:

* How persistent discipline must inform political virtue:

*Seien Sie fest in Ihren Entschlüssen: wägen Sie das Für und Wider vorher ab.
Aber wenn Ihre Wille einmal erklärt ist, so gehen Sie um alles in der Welt nicht mehr davon ab.*

‘Be steady in your decisions: carefully weigh the pros and contras beforehand.
But once you made up your mind, then do not deviate from your course for anything in the world’

* How a military mindset must underpin diplomatic policy:

Diplomatie ohne Waffen ist wie Musik ohne Instrument ‘Diplomacy without weapons is like music without instruments’

* How patience must have limits (apropos 22 February 2022):

Lange genug war ich Amboss, jetzt will ich Hammer sein
‘I was an anvil for long enough, now I want to be a hammer’

* How political caution relates to military daring (apropos ‘unprovoked aggression’):

*Es gibt Vorsichtskriege, die Fürsten aus weisen Gründen unternehmen:
sie sind in Wahrheit offensiv, doch sind sie nicht weniger Gerech* ‘There are preventive wars that rulers undertake for wise reasons:
in truth, they are offensive, but they are nonetheless just because of that’

* How war is a law unto itself (apropos ‘ICC indictments’):

*Wenn Fürsten Krieg wollen, so beginnen sie in.
Und lassen dann einen arbeitsamen Rechtsgelehrten kommen, der beweist, dass es also Recht sei*
‘When rulers want war, they just start them.
They then invite some industrious legal scholar to prove that the law is on their side’

* How uncorrected evil is sure to defeat itself (apropos the Empire of Lies):

Das ist die Belohnung der Schlechtigkeit, dass die, welche dem Verbrechen nachgehen zum Schaden der Tugend, wenn sie auch wirklich die Strenge der Gesetze entrinnen, Urteil und Vernunft verlieren

‘It is the reward of evil that those who commit to crime in breach of virtue, and really escape from the severity of justice,
will lose their judgment and their mind’

* Always KISS (Keep It Simple and Stupid):

*Man muss für sein Vaterland kämpfen und fallen, wenn man es retten kann.
Und wenn nicht, ist's Schimpf, es zu überleben*
‘One should fight and fall for the fatherland if one can save it.
And if one cannot, then it is a disgrace to survive it’

Весна Священная

(Faerie Queene Easter Vision⁷)

This essay must conclude with a simple dedication of our Eurasianist cause to the Sacred Heart, for the sake of all that we seek to protect - all that is beautiful, innocent and holy in humanity. Thus, as a final step, let us pause, and put all these weighty matters out of our minds. We can confidently entrust them to Providence, and give it time. Let us remember that our Creator is Generous beyond all measure - and that with this season, in Easter and Pentecost, He gave us all. Let us reciprocate:

*The fine purple
The purest gold
The red of the sacred heart
The grey of the ghost
The L of the lips are open
To the O of the host
The V of the velvet
The E of my eye
The eye in wonder
The eye that sees
The I that loves You*

Χριστὸς ἀνέστη!

⁷ From the lyrics of Kate Bush's song 'Why Should I Love You?' (The Red Shoes, 1993). The author here wishes to slightly correct the two lines that follow her line 'Have you ever seen a picture of Jesus laughing?' in her lyrics. They should not be 'Do you think He had a beautiful smile? A smile that healed'. They should be: 'He has' and 'that heals' - present time. A power that is now and here.